"Y" Loses to Aggies Score 45-43

Extra Period Required to Play Tie off—Game Featured by Brilliant Passing and Basket Shooting.

In one of the most closely contested games ever played in Utah, and in which probably the team played the best game on ball host the "Y" men went down to defeat at the hands of the Aggie Hoopsters. The "Y" men started in with eight men in the line to play and keep nine points in reserve. Coach Romney of the A. T. College Mandell started his fast crowd and sent Robinson in as forward with orders to be playing down on the floor most of the time. As the game was forward had clipped to four points at the end of the first period with the "Aggies" on the long end, 23 to 19. In the second half the Aggies increased their lead to seven points, 37 to 30, when the "Y" men started a rally. A basket was made by Robinson, Curtis, Ward and Nelson, making the score 37 to 36 with but one minute to play. Mandell was sent in for Curtis and the whistle was blown. The two minutes went by with the score at 38 "Aggies" 38 "Y." Referee Hall gave the Aggies put their ball and basket and full time score 45 to 43 in favor of the Aggies.

The game was fast and excellent exhibition of clean playing. The officials started the game off not considering any of the fouls coming intentional. The Aggies started in a fast pace from the start and kept it up until the whistle blew. The Aggies worked well in the center of the floor, passing the ball around until they got a chance for a basket. The "Y" men started a rally but one team could not overcome the other. EDUCATIONAL CENTERS FAVOR SOUTHWICK BILL

It is a commendable fact that nearly all the schools and educators in the state have lined up in favor of the Southwick Bill. State institutions as well as those of different churches favor its adoption. When one reflects on the fact that the money spent for tobacco exceeds that spent for education in the United States is no wonder. Even the man who invented the American Cigarette, made as his deathbed statement the sentence, "I regret three things in this life,—1st that I never became a Christian, 2nd that I never married, 3rd that I invented the American Cigarette".

Science has proved that Education and tobacco are Antagonistic. It is for the people of Utah to decide between the two and save the expense of one of them.

—Y—

PERSONAL LIBERTY DEMANDS SOUTHWICK BILL

The fight is on in the legislature over the Southwick Anti-Cigarette Bill. The Senate has passed the bill. It is now up to the house to show it's metal.

The friends and financial relatives of the cigarette are trying to becloud the issue by clinging tenaciously to the antiquated personal liberty argument. The sane law respecting people of the state, have thought for years that they were guaranteed liberties by American traditions and ideals. But little by little and now in the form of an avalanche, the cigarette users have encroached upon this liberty. These liberty loving people are now in a law-abiding way, asserting their claim to freedom. The Southwick Bill is none other than the embodiment of the rights of the majority to have fresh oxygen to not be smoked out by the smoker, as though there were a swarm of "bats." None other than the smokers themselves have brought on such legislation. Had they respected the rights of others there would probably be no attempt at present to forbid the use of the weed.

Men talk about the rights of the minority, but the first consideration of a democracy is the rights of the majority, and that is the reason for the agitation favoring Anti-Cigarette legislation. If the smokers are really sincere and yet broad-minded from the standpoint of personal liberty they themselves will favor this proposed law.

COST AND WASTE OF TOBACCO

The high cost of living is not entirely due to extravagance in the daily necessities of life, but also to the extravagence in luxuries that besides being costly in money, are costly to the human bodies and minds of those that use them.

Every year vast sums of money are spent for harmful luxuries The most injurious and most costly is tobacco. The following sums are spent yearly:

For Cigarettes ... $800,000,000
For Cigars ... $510,000,000
For Tobacco and Snuff ... $800,000,000

The capital and the cost of labor spent in producing these luxuries could be spent to a good advantage on necessary industries.

The ground could be used for raising some crop that the world needs.

In addition much time is spent in preparing the smokes. In rolling the cigarette and filling the pipe.

Tobacco using takes away a man's efficiency in business. A man who does not use tobacco is much more likely to get a position in any firm.

1,900,000 acres of our choicest land is now devoted to tobacco raising. The average would annually produce 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, or 100,000,000 bushels of corn—an equivilalent in flour sufficient to feed 10,000,000 starving Europeans each year.

The following figures show the increase of cigarette production in the last ten years. Cigarette smoking has increased 666% from 1910 to 1918 inclusive. It is significant to note that 170% of this increase was during the war 1915 to 1918.

WISE SAYINGS OF WISE MEN

Benjamin Franklin—I never saw a well man in the exercise of common sense who said tobacco did him any good.

Thomas Jefferson——The culture of tobacco is a culture of productive infinite wretcherness.

Daniel Webster—If those men must smoke let them go to the horse shed.

T. Dewitt Talmage—The pathway to a drunkard's grave and the drunkard's hell is strewn with tobacco leaves.

MILTON KNUDSEN WRITES PRESIDENT

The following is a letter written to President Brimhall by Milton H. Knudsen who is taking out his Ph. D. at the Iowa State College of Agriculture. He is also on the faculty of that institution.

Ames, Iowa
January 3, 1921

Pres. Geo. H. Brimhall
B. Y. U. Provo, Utah.
Dear President Brimhall:

I wish you a very Happy and Prosperous New Year. I would like to congratulate the B. Y. U. thru you on the splendid achievements of the past and especially upon the signal victory of our debators over Princeton. You know that it sent a genuine thrill down my spine when I read the Provo papers concerning the victory and also on the way you banqueted the visitors and judges after the debate was over You know I wear a Gold Medal won while at the B. Y. U. on the debating team, so that is why I feel so enthusiastic about this event.

I want to thank you for your kind letter of November 16, and I have taken occassion several times to read the closing paragraph. "Every Mormon boy that climbs into prominence with his faith puts our light upon a hill. Everyone who leaves his faith behind advertises the fallacy, "Mormonism cannot stand the test of knowledge"

You know I often wondered why our Mormon boys go overboard with their faith, sometimes, while pursuing advanced courses of study So far in my studies I have not come across a single established fact, but what coincides beautifully with the truths of the Gospel as revealed in the teachings of Mormonism. Furthermore, I have the faith that only those things will be established as scientific facts which will coincide with the revealed word of God.

I have come to the conclusion that there are perhaps three causes for some of our boys getting 'side tracked'. It may be any one of the three or any combination of the three. 1st. they go to philosopizing without being sure of the premises upon which they stand and then never know how to discern between facts and what appear to be facts.

2nd. They take theories and hypothesis for facts and then without finding out that certain so called facts are only based upon hypothesis, whether sound or unsound, they accept them as truths, and hence cannot see the argument between these so called facts and the revealed words of God

3rd. They trangress the commandments of God, break his laws and then instead of the light that should lead into all truth, there is nothing but darkness. Omission is very often to blame more than commission.

Personally, I feel very thankful, for the opportunities that I am enjoying. I appreciate that I was born of goodly parents and that I was taught the fear of God in my youth. I would rather lose all I have than my testimony of the truth that God lives and that Jesus is the Christ.

I was interested very much in a letter I received from my brother Ernest E., who is as you know at Columbia University for his Master's work. I am not asking his permission but I am enclosing part of the letter which I received from him the other day. You will be interested I am sure in what another B. Y. U. boy is doing. In closing his letter he states that he is going down to see the Board of Examiners again to see what they are going to do about his license. "I would like to get into an argument with them again. I think they ought to be informed about our school and the kind of work it is giving," he closes.

I feel that the B. Y. U. must become better known, and that our faculty must be strong, both in faith and in science and all branches of knowledge. Our work must be the standard set by the best recognized schools and we want to seek for recognition among the schools of the land Our graduates should not be made to feel that they have received their education in an unrecognized institution. Our light must be set upon a hill and not covered by a bushel. I surely am heart and soul with you in the building of a great college or University. We should have an enrollment of 1000 College students in five years from now

You may depend upon me doing all I possibly can to further the interests of the B. Y. U. and of carrying its message wherever I go. With the season's best greetings, I remain your Brother in the Gospel,

Milton H. Knudsen

Below is the clipping from the letter of Ernest E Knudsen:

New York is trying to do all it can to educate the immigrants and foreigners, they want teachers to teach English to them, so three of us applied the other day and I had quite an experience He went down and took an examination to obtain a New York City License, we all passed and credentials with them, we mailed them and after a few days the others then they asked us to file our school received their licenses and I received word to come and see them. They wanted to see what kind of an animal a Mormon was and what his ideas were after having his mind contaminated by going through a church school. Of course the first question was if I would teach polygamy if given a position. I explaned our position on that subject. They wanted to know what kind of work I took in a course in Thee mathology and several other questions which more or less showed their ignorance Then they wanted to know, seeing that I was a Mormon, if I would keep the laws of the land and the state. I simply answered them by asking what any citizen of the United States would do. That last question made me mad, and I lit in and told them a few facts about our religion and the Church School system of education and let them know what I thought about their ignorance, They returned my credits the next day but I haven't seen anything of the license yet..

I attended the Eastern States Mission Conference a week ago Sunday we had some very good meetings and Imet lots of people who I knew at Provo and at school. Harvey Fletcher is president of the N. Y. C. branch.

Ruskin—Tobacco is the worst curse of modern civilization.

Dr Kress—Cigarettes are making our boys weak, puny, and unmanly.

E. H. Harriman—We might as well go to the insane asylum for our men as to employ cigarette smokers.

Elbert Hubbard—Never advance the pay of a cigarette smoker; never promote him; never trust him.

P. M. Sharppless—More men are hoisting the sign, "I am a fool" by appearing in public with a cigarette.'

Boys who smoke cigarettes are like wormy apples. They drop off long before the harvest time.—David Starr Jordan.

No boy living would commence to use cigarettes if he knew what a useless, soulless, worthless thing they make of him.

Public Service Bureau Renders Santaquin Program

Last Sunday evening, Carl Christensen, Walter Jepperson, Mart Ellertson, La Herlo Thurman, Carol Polton, Melba Condie, Richard Condie, Le Roy Whitehead, Marguerite Jepperson, and Mary Wordley, went to Santaquin to give a program of music and Dramatic Art.

Readings, vocal solos, double mixed quartetts, and piano solos comprised the program. The entertainers were received with enthusiasm, and invited to come again.

The following letter of appreciation was sent to Dr. Brimhall in acknowledgement of the good work of the Bureau:

Santaquin, Utah
January 31, 1921

Dear Dr Brimhall:

Just a word of recognition. The quartet from the B. Y. U. that sang here Sunday night was an equal to any quartet that I have heard from the University.

I want to and feel to voice the sentiment of my townspeople In that the treat given us last night by the B. Y. U. people is something that will be remembered.

Very truly yours,
Eric Lingdahl

The New Year

We have individually and collectively entered port on the good ship 1920. Another new, and if possible, better craft "1921" is ready upon our arrival in leaving port each person is the captain of his own ship, directing wheresoever he will. A compliment 365 men each representing a day provided for all alike. Perhaps, during the voyage which has now terminated you have lost part of your crew, minimizing your success in proportion to the days lost. They are dead, gone for ever. Happy indeed is that captain who returns without loss of one He enters his new barge confident that he will bring 1921 to port without a casualty.

With anxious parting on the pier I wish you "Bon Voyage", and God speed and when a course is taken one year hence, that you shall find three hundred and sixty five full healthy and well enjoyed days to the credit of your steamship providing your worthiness to command your own destiny.

May 1921 be laden from stern to stem with everything needfull to your success and may you know how to utilize every current of sea and air to a profitable end and may the Lord hear and answer your S. O. S. call for help which is assured if your wireless instrument is in tune with His, is my sincere wish.

would much rather pay the small increase in taxes, than have children and friends pay a great deal more to let the tobacco trusts.

Mr. Castle admitted that the attitude taken by our representatives was very broad minded and that the arguments advanced were the most logical he had heard.

The representatives were requested to appear again when the measure comes before the House Committee.

The next day when the Bill was debated in the Senate, Senator J. Wm. Knight referred especially to the testimony given in behalf of the B. Y. U.

The following letter expresses the appreciation of Senator Knight and other friends of this legislation:

President G. H. Brimhall,
Brigham Young University,
Provo City, Utah.
Dear President:

I take this opportunity of congratulating the school upon the splendid showing which it made before the Senate Committee this morning on Senate Bill No. 12 by Mr Southwick.

The school and the student body can well be proud of such young men and women. They made the strongest arguments, in my judgment, that were placed before the committee and they were well received by all.

Yours sincerely,
Signed:
J. Wm. Knight

MODERN ARTS

Poetical Scientific Discussions On Modern Arts. No. One.

KISSING

This kissing as a modern art,
Sure needs a reformation
Since far the art has faded from
The good old saint foundation!

How changed the way and motive
In this or that direction,
Since Adam kissed his darling Eve
To show his fond affection!

But through the years of romance
Some changes have begun;
The standard arts have been revised
Remodeled, one by one.

And so the modern Romeo
(To have it to his wishing)
Has broadly utilized and changes
This favorite art of kissing.

He's used it in so many ways
Both general and specific.
That its los ng its artistic sense
And getting quite scientific!

Now this kept up much longer
It will spoil it all, because
Art is used for pleasure
But science never was

The world will soon be wanting
All the happiness and bliss
That has been simply ruined
By the scientific kiss.

So young and old take warning
To make the story short:
Cut out the scientific stuff
And keep kissing just an art.

"Y" LOSES TO "AGGIES"

Richards scored three field baskets from the center of the floor and the enthusiasm of the Aggies seemed to concede defeat The muclf lighter, but speedier Provo team continued to outpass the A. C The B. Y was now nine points ahead. It was at this juncture that the Aggie lineup was changed Richards had been guarding Kirk quite consistently but the change of tactics of Robinson came too unexpectedly and before the tide was stayed the Aggies were within one point of the "Y". The student body arose en masse. Then when Kirk tossed a foul, called on Stoop, the score was tied 41 to 41. During the last two minutes Weight also had two chances for foul tosses but missed both. Up to then he had made 6 our of 7 count.

In the five minuts period allowed to play the tie off, McMullin was the first to score. A minute later Snow duplicated the stunt. Then McMullin caged another, after which the whistle announced the end of victory for the A. C.

The game was no; as the casual observer would think, example of loose guarding. Rather it was featured by plenty of basket passing and both scientific and spectacular basket shooting. "Dunk" Brown was easily the star of the game caging seven field goals and covering the entire floor His endurance stood the strain also. "Robinson" a former B. Y. C star and freshman, performed the most spectacular work. His ankle was hurt in basket ball and he did saved the day for the Aggies Captan McMullin must also be given credit for victory did for his team He played a consistent game, and time after time, when the Aggies seemed to be reaped, he started them going again Hansen, of the A. C was the only man not to score.

The illness and consequent absence of Coach Roberts from the game was no doubt a great handicap to the "Y" boys. While they have no alibies to offer for the defeat, they feel that had the Coach been present this tale would be somewhat different.

The officiating of the game was first class. Watson and Simmons were fair and impartial.

Real Student Program Given Last Friday

An unusually good program was given in devotional Friday morning. Miss Taylor and a Male Quartette from the Granite High School came down to entertain us with some of their musical talent. They knew we were tired after many weeks of work so sang some songs which were clever and entertaining and required no exra intelligence or mental exertion to understand. Among the songs were: "Hello Provo; Speak to Me Love; A Little Bit of Fellowship; and Farewell To Thee."

Mr Earl Donaldson sang a baritone solo, "Asleep in the Deep," and Mr. Cornwall played a violin solo. The music was splendid. We surely enjoyed it and hope our Granite friends will come again with their music c

The second feature was, "As your Paich is so Shall it Be," a prophecy fortelling the results of the game between the "Y" and the A. C.

West Parkinson was fully equipped as time keeper with his alarm clock and pipe Little Billy Battle made a splendid referee. The little B. Y. U. fellows scrapped hard with the lucky Aggies to keep the ball from them and roll up the score for the "Y" Along the sidelines were the Student Body, Provo, and Aggie rooting and cheering for our side. Within two minutes our score rose from 2 to 25 points while the Aggies remained at 10—and thus the game was won.

Mr Kirkham, head of the Boy Scout movement, the success of which lies, he said, in their pledge "Upon my honor I will do my best." He also taught us how to yell with the spirit and life of the Boy Scout.

The Basket Ball boys were called up to the stand and were given cheers and a genuine send-off to go against the Aggies We sang "Our Glorious Banner" with more feeling than ever before and were confident our boys would win the game for us.

and they were robbed. Finally the mystery was solved—the two ladies mad was the guilty thief—and as "all's well that ends well", the marriage ceremony was performed the three couples instead of only the original one.

The surrounding atmosphere was so real that the girls in the audience kept close watch on their rings and other Jewelry for fear they would also disappear. About four hundred people were on the audience. All the actors and actoresses took their parts well and the play compared favorably with many professional shows.

wish—her trade, and above all her friendship".

Dr. Willet showed how this friendship will bring nations to the paramount desire of the United States and always has been. Every war we have fought has been for one ultimate aim, a lasting peace. China was cited as a nation that has lived while it's conquerors had perished. Not that an unarmed, unprogressive peace was advocated, far from it. The speaker sees in the League of Nations the big solution, which will bring about a permanent peace, a peace in which a more Independent citizenship, a broader sense of nationalism, and a more ideal system of education will be emphasized.

DEBATORS CHOSEN FOR U. OF U., A. C. U. AND U. OF N.

During the past week the debators have begun work on the question: "Resolved that Utah should establish Industrial Courts for the Settlement of Labor Disputes Patterned after the Kansas Plan." The B. Y. U will take the negative side of the question in the debate with the A. C. U. Two of our team that debated against Princeton, George Ballif and Hyrum Harter will go against the A. C. and also Gladys Loynd, one of our most efficient debators this debate will be held in Logan sometime during the latter part of February.

Miss Grace Nixon, Miss Vesta Pierce and Mr. Ernest Wilkinson, will debate affirmative with the U. of U. Although we have two girls on this team, we feel that it is nevertheless, capable of upholding the affirmative side of the question. Mr Frank Newman and Mr. West Parkinson will go to Nevada to represent us at that university. Both of these men are experienced debators and it is expected that they will uphold the splendid record that the B. Y. U, has always maintained in debating our Western friends. Carlyle Maw and Paul Murdock who have both had experience as high school debators will meet Dixie here. All of the debators feel that after the "Y's" remarkable victory over the Princeton team sets a new standard and that a new duty devolves upon all of the other teams in keeping up the good work.

Be at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors, and let every new year find you a better man.

Utah, the Wonderland

With all his culture and training in the arts and sciences man cannot begin to find adequate expression of nature's beauty, either with the brush or pen. Realizing the madequacy, I will try to express the impression made upon me while traveling through one of Grand Old Utah's Beauty Spots—The Land of a Thousand Lakes.

The nature lover who would make a pilgrimage must prepare for a hard but very interesting journey. Seventy miles from Provo will bring our traveler to the Supiise ranger station. Here the automobile must be abandoned for a more primitive mode; the pack horse, wagon or if nothing better, foot, for fifteen miles. Although a constant climb of five thousand feet one will never notice it. Massive Groves of beautiful Aspen, Spruce and Balsom, the creeks that dart and splash over the rocks, the beds of lovely blue Penstamon, make one insensible to fatigue. The Water Outzel lends a sense of humor to the situation with his peculier antics. Should the wanderer be forgetful the tall Penion Pine will remind him that he is still climbing. While reluctant to hurry through heaven, Trial Lake the head of Provo River, is at last reached. Here Uncle Sam invites his friends to camp.

A realization of tired limbs can hardly prevent a freshman scouting trip but Old Sol withdraws his supports: then camp-fire stories and pine bough beds are in order.

Up with the birds, full of pep we start to climb Bald mountain. A thousand surprises await us on our way. Fairy Lakes with beautiful water lilies every where, now sheep peacefully grazing in verdent pasture, Pine hens and grouse gaze curiously at the intruder. Thru the timberland, around the swamp, over ridges, around ledges we at last come to the final dome of Bald Mountain. Two thousand feet over shale and cliff the summit is reached. The land of a thousand lakes indeed, on every side, border of shimmering water dotted through the trees. The heads of four rivers, Bear, Weber Provo and Duchesne may be seen. To the East we see Mt Aggassig to the North West Reids Peak towers like a giant cone, to the North East is Hayden Peak. Bald Mountain is 11,970 feet, Mt. Timp is 11,957.

Through the field glasses one can to some extent realize the magnitude of the work of connecting the lakes which supply water for irrigation purposes to Utah, Salt Lake and Wasatch Counties. Deep reverence and admiration is felt for the men whose fore sight diligence and contributed so greatly to society. A B. Y. U student is proud of the fact that such a man as President Joseph R. Murdock is a member of our board of trustees.

This description is very brief but I hope it will create a desire in the the heart of all loyal westerners to visit our Utah Beauty Spots.

"MASTER BUILDERS" COMES TO-NIGHT

The Varsity Players of the Social Hall Theatre of Salt Lake will present Ibsen's play "The Masterbuilders" to night at the Coulmbia Theatre as the third of their series of five. This is one of Ibsen's best, one with which every student of Drama becomes familiar, and one whose characters have been impersonated by many of the world's leading actors.

It is the story of a man, a master builder, who, in order to reach the topmost pinnacle of his line, crushes all opposition. He reaches it, but finds the joy of life has left him and that his ambition to build is fast leaving him and yet, like a wounded animal at bay he jealously guards from any younger aspirant, his position as the Masterbuilder.

However, it is whispered among younger architects that he no longer dares, as formerly, to climb as high as he builds. Thus they taunt him to wreath the high tower of his magnificent building that is soon to be completed. What follows and the way Ibsen ends his play is well worth the time of anyone to discover.

True these are times of financial stress for most of us. There are so many calls for money that we sometimes feel unabl to respond. But, the Columbia Theatre contains an excellent gallery where seats may be obtained at a minimum cost. Do you know that in University centers the students seek the galleries not the pit from which to witness the finest productions of the country? Let us as students, then, be in keeping with the times and take the gallery, first, because it is as good as the pit, if not better, and second, because it will enable us to save money and see more good things.

PROHIBITION MOVEMENT IN EUROPE

Every country visited by Henry S. Warner, dry leader, in his tour of Europe recently has one or more student movements directed against alcohol. These are increasing in membership and some are making large progress towards arousing public opinion in the matter. Some of these organizations lay the emphasis on creating a student social life of a thoroughly enjoyable sort which shall be free from drinking customs and traditions. Others merely encourage the matter of personal abstinence. A third classification of such student bodies are those who study the problem in its broad economic and social aspects with a view of getting a comprehensive understanding of the question. A few such groups take part in active propaganda and political movements for legal prohibition.

DEAN MERRILL DELIVERS LECTURES

During the past week Dean Amos N. Merrill addressed the Teachers-Parents Association at Santaquin. He also delivered an address before the State Convention of the Carpenters Union, which met at Provo last Friday. The subject of the latter address was, "The Responsibility of the Union to the Public."

This is the third time Dean Merrill had addressed this Labor Union Organization. His talks have always brought about a better understanding between labor and the public.
